Britain Recognizes Israel; Truce Balked

LONDON — (AP) — A government source said the British cabinet formally approved British recognition of Israel today.

PARIS — (AP)— The French government extended de facto recognition today to Israel.

Israel, the world's newest state, will hold its first election tomorrow with everyone, including foreign visitors, entitled to vote. And the election was seen temporarily delaying action on an Israel-Egypt armistice.

Balloting will select 120 members of a constituent assembly which will draw up the new Israeli constitution.

Ben Gurion's Government party is expected to receive at least 40 per cent of the vote. The United Workers party, the Freedom Movement and the Orthodox Block were expected to make a close race for second place, with each getting about 15 per cent of the vote.

Meanwhile at Tel Aviv, United Nations headquarters here announced that the evacuation of possibly 4,000 Egyptian troops from Faluja, scheduled to start today, has been postponed. No reason was given.

DELAY ARMISTICE

Reliable sources said that the Israeli delegation at Rhodes has been instructed not to sign any armistice agreement with Egypt until late Tuesday or early Wednesday so as not to influence the Israeli elections.

These sources said it was feared that any armistice concessions made to Egypt might cost provisional Premier David Ben Gurion's moderate socialist party a considerable number of votes.

Elsewhere on the international front:

New Delhi—A conference of 19 Asiatic countries broke up after demanding that the Dutch free Indonesia. An Asiatic union was proposed by several delegates. One of them, Carlos Romulo of the Philippines, said its purpose would be to check the tide of communism in the orient.

London—The cabinet met to decide how and when to announce recognition of Israel, aparently a foregone conclusion. The announcement was expected in some quarters by Wednesday, when commons debate foreign affairs. Such a move by foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would take the wind out of the sails of some of the more bitter critics of his Palestine policy.

Posadas, Argentina — Reports from the Paraguayan capital of Asuncion said a revolution had broken out against the regime of President Juan Natalicio Gonzales.

Rome—Befuddled Italian communists said they were ready to go along with the new party line calling for "peaceful conquest," although they did not comprehend it. Their chief, Palmiro Togliatti, said yesterday that peace was the watchword, and war between the east and the west was not inevitable.

Berlin—Political reporters said on the eve of a four-day meeting of German communist party leaders that they might put forth a program calling for collaboration with other German parties.

Open Hearing On Filibuster Gag

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Chairman Hayden (D.-Ariz.), opened the Senate rules committee's cloture hearings today with a promise of "no delay" by the Democratic majority in voting out legislation to tighten the gag on filibusters.

Hayden declared that the "only issue" before his committee is whether a mere majority or two-thirds of the senators voting shall be able to bring debate to a close on a motion or bill.

Trial of Axis Sal Begins

(By United Press)

Mildred E. Gillars, the nazi radio's "Axis Sally," went on trial in Washington today for treason.

The sultry-voiced native of Portland, Me., is accused of aiding the enemy through broadcasts in which she allegedly called on American GI's to lay down their arms. If convicted, she would face penalties ranging from five years imprisonment to death.

The trial before Federal Judge Edward M. Curran is expected to last for several weeks.

The government plans to introduce recordings of some of Miss Gillars' broadcasts which were beamed to GI's in North Africa and Italy.

The trial is a favorite topic today in Delaware, Bellevue and Conneaut, O.

Miss Gillars entered Ohio Wesleyan university in 1918, giving Conneaut as her home town. She said in her university application that her father was a physician in Conneaut.

Classmates recall that Miss Gillars had dramatic ability and wore striking clothes. Allen C. Conger, Wesleyan registrar, remembers her as "a girl who always wanted to start at the top."

"She seemed like a girl who didn't want to do the smaller things that lead eventually to success," he said. "She always wanted to start out doing the big things before she was capable of them."

Her classmates recall that Miss Gillars used to sit in her dormitory window, reciting poetry.

She left Ohio Wesleyan in 1922, university officials said, and toured for about a year with stock companies in the United States and Canada.

Miss Gillars lived with her family in Bellevue during World War I when her father, the late Dr. R. B. Gillars, practiced dentistry. The Gillars moved from Bellevue to Conneaut in 1916.

Truman Seeks CVA

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today directed government agencies to begin work immediately on legislation for a Columbia valley authority.

The White House announced that the president intends to send a special message to congress calling for such an authority as soon as the agencies can get a draft of proposed legislation ready.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said that it may take several weeks to get the draft in shape.

The President wrote the heads of the departments of interior, army, agriculture, and commerce, the director of the budget and the chairman of the economic advisory council, asking them to work on the draft

After saying he intends to recommend to congress the creation of a CVA, the President told the officials:

"It is most important that concrete legislative proposals for such an authority in the Columbia basin be developed on a sound basis, taking into account characteristics and needs of the region, the interests of all parts of the executive branch and the lessons of our prior experience with the kinds of operations which will be involved.

Dutch Holding 2 Americans

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Two American yachtsmen have been held by Dutch authorities at a Batavia concentration camp for two months on short rations, a Canadian said here yesterday.

The Canadian, Philip Stacey of Regina, Sask., said he was sailing with the Americans when their yacht, the Luckyboot, was picked up off Dutch Borneo and all three were interned by the Dutch, on suspicion of smuggling.

Stacey said he was released Jan. 18 through intervention of the British consul. He said the American consul was working to get the others released. They were identified as Robert Smith, 25, former U. S. Navy lieutenant from Portland, Ore., and Foster Pieno jr., Snohomish, Wash.

Accident Fatal To Youth, 15

Boy Hunter Dies In Shelby

SHELBY — A 15-year-old Tiro high school sophomore died at 6:10 a. m. today in Memorial hospital of gunshot wounds suffered in a hunting accident yesterday on his parents' farm in Crawford county near Tiro.

Before he died, the youth, Duane Howard Smith pleaded with his parents not to blame his pal for the shooting.

"Don't blame Robert. He couldn't help it," Duane said shortly before he lapsed into unconsciousness. He referred to Robert Boutwell, 15, who was hunting with him.

The Smith youth was hunting crows and other pests with young Boutwell who was visiting him while the Smith boy's parents were in Michigan.

PARENTS ARRIVE

The boy victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Smith, who were visiting Mrs. Smith's family in Michigan at the time of the accident, arrived last night in time to see their son alive.

The boys apparently were hunting in the woods, and the shot was fired accidentally when they

Court Denies Garsson Appeal

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States Court of Appeals in a 2-1 decision today upheld the wartime bribery and fraud convictions of former Congressman Andrew J. May (D-Ky) and the Garsson brothers, Murray and Henry.

May was chairman of the powerful House Military Affairs committee during World War II. He and the Garssons were found guilty of conspiring to defraud the government through operations of a gigantic munitions-making combine.

Justice E. Barrett Prettyman wrote the majority opinion upholding the convictions, with Justice Henry R. Edgerton concurring. A dissenting opinion was filed by Chief Justice Harold M. Stephens.

Sentenced to serve from eight months to two years in prison, May and the Garssons now are at liberty on bail. They are expected to carry the appeal to the supreme court.

The appellate court decision upheld the government's charge that May took $53,000 in bribes from Garssons for applying "pressure" which enabled the promoters to build a 78 million dollar munitions empire from a "letterhead" beginning.

Yangtze Fortified

Gunpoint Surrender Feared By Chinese

By CHANG KUO-SIN

NANKING—(UP)—Nationalist troops hastily built fortifications today on the north bank of the Yangtze at Pukow, across the river from Nanking, to prevent the communists from enforcing total surrender demands at gunpoint.

Communist spearheads at last reports were only 15 miles northeast of Nanking in their lunge southward. Nationalist military quarters admitted they might reach the north bank of the Yangtze within a week.

It was feared the communists might lob shells into the modern Chinese capital, as they did into Peiping, to punctuate their demands for quick and complete surrender of Acting President Li Tsung-Jen's Kuomintang government.

Government troops all along the Yangtze on both sides of Nanking were reported falling back before a broad communist southward sweep, except at Pukow where the new defense system was being built far enough north of the river to keep Nanking out of artillery range.

The high tide of the communist advance was reported at Liuho, 15 miles northeast of Nanking, and Chuhsen, 30 miles northwest. Telephone communications with the two towns were broken at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Acting President Li meanwhile was reported to have drafted a sweeping series of reforms liberalizing the Kuomintang government regime he inherited from Chiang Kai-Shek.

REFORM PROGRAM

The program called for revocation of measures suppressing civil rights, such as lifting the ban on the outlawed democratic league, release of political prisoners and permission for independent newspapers and magazines to publish.

It was understood that martial law also might be revoked under the program. The measures were expected to be submitted to the central political council for approval.

Li also sent his personal adviser, Kan Kai-Hou, to call on top liberals in Shanghai, including Madame Sun Yat-Sen and Democratic league chief Chang Lan. It was understood he wanted them to join the government in his bid for peace.

It was understood that Li also had abandoned plans to move the government from Nanking to Canton.

Reports from Peiping indicated the big northern metropolis of 2,500,000 people was passing quietly from nationalist to communist control.

Chinese press reports in Peiping said one communist column already had entered the city, but foreign newsmen were unable to find them.

Communist political workers assured newsmen that telegraphic communications would continue and there would be no censorship of foreign dispatches.

Other reports from the north said the nationalists and communists were cooperating in restoring communications since the fall of Peiping at Tientsin.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's arch conservative Democratic liberal party in yesterday's election gained 263 of the diet's 466 seats, a jump of more than 100. This gave the prime minister's party a parliamentary working majority—the first since Japan's surrender.

The communists grabbed 35 seats, 31 more than they had; the Democrats 70, social Democrats 49, peoples cooperative 14, other parties 23 and the independents 12.

Thus the communists, heretofore almost a nonentity in Japanese politics, became a fraction of consequence in an election that brought out about 70 per cent of the Japanese voters—about 5,000,000 more than any previous election.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur hailed the results of the election as "a mandate for the conservative philosophy of government."

Lamb Seeks To Expand

Wants Increase In Radio Time

Edward Lamb, red-tinged Toledo lawyer whose singular success at gaining radio licenses through the Federal Communications commission brought him under attack of a special investigating committee of the last Congress, again is attempting to expand his radio facilities.

Lamb is one of five contenders for increased Toledo radio facilities in a hearing underway today before a special examiner of the FCC in Toledo.

News dispatches from Toledo stated today that Lamb is seeking to switch his Unity corporation's Toledo station (WTOD) wavelength from its present 1560 kilocycles to a proposed 1470 kilocycles and gain unlimited day and night use of the wavelength. At the present time the Lamb station in Toledo is limited to daytime use only.

Also contending for the same wave length are four other applicants: the Midwestern Broadcasting company of Toledo; The Toledo Blade company; the Rural Broadcasting company of Oak Harbor, O., and the Radio Corporation of Toledo.

The Midwestern, Blade and Radio Corporation firms all are seeking the radio facility for a new Toledo station, while the Rural Broadcasting company wants the wave length for an Oak Harbor station.

Toledo already has three standard broadcasting stations, three FM stations and one television outlet.

The hearing, opening in Toledo at 10 a. m. today was being conducted before FCC Examiner Fannie Litvin with FCC Atty. David Stevens is counsel for the examiner.

Lamb is the same Toledo lawyer who received an FM radio license grant for Mansfield last year then withdrew it after News-Journal disclosures about his red-tinged affiliations and writings.

Rita, Aly Sniffle

GSTAAD, SWITZERLAND — (AP) — Prince Aly Khan advised the management of the Palace hotel here by telephone today that both he and Rita Hayworth were suffering from influenza and were compelled to delay their return to Gstaad from Cannes for a few days.

The couple had been scheduled to rejoin Miss Hayworth's daughter, four-year-old Rebecca Welles, here today.

He's Lucky Wife Was Poor Shot

Awakening at 3 a. m., today Mrs. Smith heard a noise in the cafe operated by her husband. She feared her husband was being held up so she seized a gun, ran to the door of the cafe and opened fire. Smith's shouts finally put an end to the shooting and Mrs. Smith then learned there was no one in the cafe but her husband.

Smith was unhurt.

'Hands Off,' 711 Tells Parent Unit

Local Resists 'Interference'

Local 711, United Electrical Workers (Westinghouse) in strongly-worded terms, yesterday told the International Union to keep hands off the local union.

By a vote of more than 50 to 1, the membership went on record as:

1. Prohibiting interference in internal affairs of the local by UEW International representatives.

2. Prohibiting international representatives from attending meetings of the local unless specifically requested to attend.

3. To resist any attempt by international representatives to distribute any literature at the plant gates without approval of the local.

The action follows a similar action by the Dayton local of the UE which also told the international, charged with being controlled by communist sympathizers, to keep hands off.

Joseph Hawkins, president of the local, said attendance at the meeting was greater than at any other meeting except those called to ratify contracts. He said 200 were present.

CITE OPPONENTS

The local declared "bitter and open condemnation of actions of any of its members who are lending assistance to the opponents of

Lausche Tries To 'Save' Defenbacher

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Governor Lausch intervened personally today in an attempt to insure senate confirmation tonight of Herbert D. Defenbacher as state finance director.

Lausche held a lengthy conference this morning with Sen Edward Sawicki, one of the four Democratic rebels who voted against Defenbacher's confirmation last Monday.

Lausche said that "we discussed the Defenbacher appointment" and added: "I hope it will be reconsidered and confirmed tonight."

Defenbacher was refused confirmation as a member of Governor Lausche's cabinet last Monday night when his nomination received only 14 votes, with 17 needed for confirmation. Under the legislature's rule, a move to reconsider that 14-10 vote must be made within two legislative days.

Since the solons worked only two days last week, the second legislative day is today. If the vote is not reconsidered tonight, Defenbacher is through.

Margaret Will Resume Career

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Now that she doesn't have to go on any campaign trips, Margaret Truman is taking up her singing career again.

The White House announced last night the President's daughter has signed with James V. Davidson of New York as her manager in "concert and allied fields for the 1949-50 season."

Margaret had an active musical career, including a cross-country concert tour, in 1947. The critics were not overly enthusiastic, but the crowds liked her—as they did on her journeys with the President in 1948's political campaign.

Plows, Ski-Plane Rush Aid

Cattle Loss Major Disaster

SALT LAKE CITY—(INS) A new storm whipped across blizzard-locked rangelands in Utah today as stockmen waged an all-out battle against nature in an effort to save an estimated 2,100,000 head of starving livestock.

The new blizzard threatened additional thousands of cattle and sheep in Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Colorado while menacing parts of grazing lands in Washington, Oregon and fringes of California.

Snowplows were used in attempts to reach flocks and herds but strong winds and colder temperatures made relief almost impossible for more than a million animals.

Plans were made to drop feed from air force and national guard planes to snowbound livestock but only if the animals could not be reached on the ground.

SKI-PLANE USED

A ski-equipped plane was added to an emergency group of cargo planes at Salt Lake City which will take hay to herds facing starvation.

The new storm also struck in northern Arizona, North and South Dakota, western Kansas and northwestern New Mexico. Conditions ranging from blizzards to light snowfall caused new misery for thousands of starving cattle and sheep in the Rocky Mountain region.

Officials of the Fourth Air Force in Sacramento, Cal., hoped the weather would clear so that "operation feedlift," a mercy mission for the animals threatened with death from starvation and exposure, might begin.

Sixteen C-82 flying "box cars" were set to take off from Sacramento to save nearly a million cattle and sheep threatened with death from starvation and exposure.

One huge transport took off last night to begin dropping cottonseed cake and hay to the hungry livestock.

Livestock losses have grown to the proportions of a major disaster since "the worst winter on record" in the Rockies began with a crippling blizzard last Jan. 2.

The Wyoming Stock Growers association estimated losses so far at nine million dollars.

Many breeding animals have perished by starvation, suffocation and freezing and the effect, stockmen believe, will eventually result in smaller lamb and calf crops this spring with resultant higher meat prices across the nation.

Rains Create Flood Threat

Heavy week-end rains threatened to swell the Ohio river toward flood stage today while unseasonable mild weather continued over the state.

Mansfielders who switched to light topcoats and jackets in the 52-degree noon reading, were warned colder weather was on its way and may arrive tonight or tomorrow. Meanwhile, said the weatherman, rain will continue in the area with only a slight possibility of snow flurries.

The Ohio river was rising at the rate of nine-tenths of a foot an hour at Cincinnati as residents of the Queen City recalled the disastrous "Black Sunday" of the 1937 flood that occurred just 12 years ago today.

The Ohio had reached 30.4 feet at Cincinnati by 7 a. m., a rise of nearly five feet in the last 24 hours. Flood stage, however, is 52 feet.

The state highway department reported heavy fog in the northwestern part of the state and a light fog in the western, northern, northeastern and central portions of the state.

Police Shoot Marsupial Caught In Fence

City Life Too Much For Opossums

A police bullet ended the suffering of a hapless opossum on Ohio street last night, bringing to a sad ending the story of a pair of the marsupials that tried to cope with the tribulations of city life.

Officers were called to the home of E. L. Berry, 83 Ohio street, when the opossum became wedged in a fence. The animal was injured and screeching in agony when police Lt. Howard Dickson and Patrolman John Butler arrived.

Unable to free the animal, the officers shot it.

Abouth three weeks ago another opossum, believed to have been the mate of the one killed last night was shot to death by police in the basement of a Sturges avenue home, not far from the scene of last night's episode.

The other opossum poked its head into an empty glass fruit jar in the basement of the home of Mrs. Cora Berlin, 383 Sturges avenue.

Unable to free itself from the jar, the excited little animal broke off the jar, leaving a jagged collar of broken glass around its neck which cut the flesh. Police were called and shot the animal.

Mrs. Berlin remarked at the time that a pair of opossums had made frequent trips to her basement, presumably in search of food. It was believed that last night's victim was the other half of the opossum family.

Suffers the Agonies of a Clean Desk When 'Sec' Starts to Work

"Me sec" is short for "my secretary."

My sec is short herself. She is also blonde, blue-eyed and pretty. She is also married to a Mormon and has two children. She is also one of my wife's best friends. Her name is Laurie.

It wasn't through honest merit that I joined the men of distinction who have office secretaries. It came about in this wise:

One morning I came to work and found a small, disheveled blonde fiercely burrowing into the knee-high litter of books, magazines, papers, letters, and old cigar butts atop my desk. She was making strangling noises, so I pulled her out—and recognized Laurie.

When I asked if she had lost one of her children in there or something, she said:

"No, silly, I'm working for you now—cleaning up this mess."

"Who hired you?"

"Your wife, Frances, did. She came in here the other day and saw this pile of junk on your desk, and she's afraid it'll topple over and kill you. I'm to help you get rid of it."

"And where's Frances going to get the money to pay you?"

"Out of her fur coat fund," said Laurie.

Well, that stopped me. I had given Frances some money at Christmas for the family fur coat fund. This fund has been going on ever since we were married eleven years ago. But every time it has gotten big enough to buy the left forefoot of a silver fox pelt, we have had to dip into the fund for one emergency or another.

As a matter of fact, my wife lately has fallen into the wistful habit of calling it the "Frances Boyle Memorial Fur Coat Fund"—on the theory that by the time there's enough in it to actually buy a fur coat she will be wearing wings and a long white robe (cotton).

So if Frances herself now wanted to rob her own fund to hire me a secretary for a few weeks, what could I do? Nothing.

"Okay, Laurie," I said. "I give up. You're me sec. What's first?"

She pulled open a crowded desk drawer. A 1937 edition of the world almanac and a withered apple core (probably late 1946) tumbled to the floor.

"Let's get rid of all this junk," she said sternly. Like my mother, Laurie looks at the ceiling while she's talking to you—if she's really serious. And Laurie was looking at the ceiling.

For days and days she has been throwing away the dear, wonderful rubbish of my life with ruthless hands. Every lost handful takes something out of my heart. I stand at the water cooler and watch her. I have to. There is no place for me to sit at my desk. My sec has my chair, too.

My desk is now almost as neat and clean as my employer's conscience. My favorite cockroaches have fled it as from a plague—completely disgusted.

My sec is a splendid sec—competent, warm-hearted, hard-working and loyal. But all the nice letters atop my desk I intended some day to answer are now neatly filed inside my desk, where I never will be able to find and answer them. I used to know where everything was. Now I know where nothing is. I have traded the organized chaos I knew for a confused order I can't understand. Secretaries, like money, can come to the average man too late in life for him to know what to do with.

Errol Flynn Has the Last Laugh, His Daredevil Style Is Still Tops

LET 'EM MAKE WITH the jokes about Errol Flynn. He has the final guffaw—for the fact remains that no one can top his dashing daredevil style in films. "Adventures of Don Juan" proves it. . . . If you take chills with your reading, try Hilda Lawrence's "Duet of Death." (Simon & Schuster). A top-drawer scare-raiser. . . . Funny to see the bad press Rita Hayworth is getting for running off with a Prince. When it happened in some of her films, she got 4 stars.

When a city editor learned that Arline Judge was getting ready for her 6th trip to the middle-aisle, he assigned a photographer to get a wedding picture of Arline. . . . "Are you kiddin'?" was the retort. "We got plenty in the files!"

Some stage thespians need more robust voices. Stub-holders in rear pews have difficulty latching onto the dialogue. You never have that trouble with T. Bankhead—her tones are thunderous...Oh, yes, things are really rugged in Celluloidia: One producer groaned that even his B-films are now as bad financially as critics think they are artistically...Even Disney lost coin last year!

When Mickey and Donald can't lure 'em at the box-office—then they might as well use celluloid for snapshots.

Those who claim the theatre is dying oughta postpone the funeral owing to money at the box-office. Last year's shows grossed $29 million on a total investment of $7 million, according to Variety.

Trouble has become a cheap commodity. Gazettes practically ignored a war that raged in India for a year and involved more than 5 million people. A squib on an inside page the other day revealed that this war has ended. The most ignored tussle in history.

Item: "Truman says he and Barkley are more in accord than any previous President and Vice-President." Oh, I dunno. Looka how well Dewey and Warren hit it off for a couple of months.

Talk about sexaggeration: Those adverts for "Enchantment" with a sketch of Teresa Wright out-Janeing Russell...Now that they've made Wall street a one-way land—it takes only a half-hour to motor four blocks.

Gee whiz, Dean Acheson's middle moniker is Gooderham... Add sad sights: The frayed honor rolls erected during the war listing names of neighborhood GIs. Forgotten and neglected.

Police Hold Suspect In Attack

Officers Kept Busy Over Week End

A 39-year-old North Franklin avenue man was held by police today in connection with an attack on Sam Black, rear 276 North Franklin avenue, at 12:40 a. m. today.

Called to the scene, police found Black, weak from loss of blood as a result of a deep head wound, believed inflicted when he was struck over the head with a milk bottle.

The fracas was one of several reported in the city area over the week end as police and sheriff's deputies were kept busy investigating reports of fights and "family trouble."

Four witnesses to the assault on Black, all residents of the rear of 276 North Franklin, said they saw the suspect strike Black with the bottle. Pieces of the broken bottle, police said, were scattered about the room at the Black home.

Admitted to General hospital, Black was reported in "fair" condition today. Police said charges would depend upon the extent of Black's injuries.

Sheriff's deputies, meanwhile, were kept busy answering "family trouble" complaints late Saturday and early Sunday.

Shortly before midnight they were called to North Liberty road; then at 2 a. m. Sunday to a Benedict avenue residence; at 3:10 a. m. to a house on Averill avenue, and eight minutes later to a Ridge road residence.

Deputies said no charges were filed in any of the cases.

Mrs. Clingan Dies at 81

Keep Draft Set-up, Legion Official Urges

Universal military training must continue, even though enlistments in the armed forces are high, Dwight A. McCullough of Mansfield McVey post, American Legion, told 250 Fifth district Legionnaires in Fostoria yesterday.

McCullough, past commander of McVey post and chairman of the Legion Fifth district committee on national defense, emphasized the need for well-trained military forces as a defense measure.

"The machinery for inducting men into the armed forces must not be discarded," he said.

Joseph Denig, commander of the McVey Post, headed the 16 Legion representatives from Mansfield.

Reports on the various phases of Legion activities were heard from Ashland, Shelby, Bucyrus and other Legion posts in the 10-county district. Roundtable discussions were held on the majority of the reports, including junior activities, led by Ralph A. Hughes of the McVey post, chairman of the Fifth district committee on junior activities.

It was decided to hold the Fifth district's "Little Convention," preceding the state convention, in Mansfield during the latter part of June. The purpose of the "Little Convention" is to elect officers to attend the state convention.

ANOTHER 'GAZETTE'—

Another copy of the famous Ulster County Gazette has bobbed up. K. L. Litterst, Lexington, found the old four-page paper in an attic. He doesn't know where it came from. The famous Gazette, dated Jan. 4, 1800, tells of George Washington's death in December, 1799. Onlly a few copies of the original paper remain and most of them are in museums. However, thousands of reproductions were made many years later and distribufed as originals. Newspapers, throughout the country frequently get reports that another "original" has been found. Litterst isn't sure about the age of his paper, which is in good condition.

4 Killed In State Mishaps

Two Mansfield Drivers Cited

Four Mansfielders suffered head and face injuries Sunday noon and early today in traffic mishaps in and near the city. At least four persons died in Ohio traffic.

Mahlon E. Utz, 64 Bentley street, suffered head injuries at 8:30 a. m. today when his Crosley station wagon collided with a car driven by Roy A. Evelyn, 48½ West Fourth street, at Adams and Second streets.

Utz was admitted to General hospital, where his condition was reported as "good" at noon. X-rays were being taken to determine extent of his injuries.

Meanwhile, police arrested Evelyn for disregarding a stop sign and cited him to appear in traffic court Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

Police said Utz was headed west on Second street and Evelyn was traveling north on Adams street.

James W. Reed, 26, of 124 Hedges street, suffered bruises of the head and face at 2:40 a. m. today when his car rammed a trailer truck at the Commercial Motor Freight station, 455 Park avenue east.

BLAMES FOG

Police said the truck driver, Clyde L. Boham of Marion, told them he had partially completed a right turn into the driveway at the freight depot when Reed's car struck the truck. Reed, who was treated at General hospital and released, said he couldn't see the trailer because of rain and fog.

Charged with unsafe operation, Reed was fined $10 and costs on a guilty plea and had his license suspended for 30 days.

Mrs. Robert Gardner, 20, of 114 Park avenue west, and Alfred Lozier, 15, of 184 Oak street, suffered facial lacerations in a three-car collision at 11:30 a. m. Sunday, three miles northeast of the city, on U. S. Route 42.

Both were treated at General hospital and released.

State highway patrolmen said a car driven by Fred Sturtervant, 67, of Cleveland, stopped on the highway because of motor trouble, and another car, driven by Charles Johnson, 35, of 184 Oak street, stopped behind it. The third car, driven by Robert Gardner, 21, of the Park avenue west address, then rammed the Johnson car. The Lozier youth was a passenger in the Johnson car.

Traffic victims in Ohio included:

Odis Derosett, 41, Miamisburg, killed when struck by an automobile while crossing a Miamisburg street.

Everett J Sharon, 25, Columbus, killed when the car he was driving collided with another auto in Columbus.

The body was removed to the Wappner Funeral home where services will be conducted Wednesday at 1:30 p.m., with burial in the Oakland cemetery in Shelby.

Wayne Daugherty, of 299 East Second street, and a car which was pssing the one he was driving cut in short, damaging the front fender, and then kept going.

Daugherty said the mishap occurred on U. S. Route 42, northeast of Mansfield, while he was traveling toward the city. He obtained the license number of the other car.

Lou Boudreau to Get Baseball's Top Salary

FAIR or FOUL

by LAWTON CARVER

International News Service

NEW YORK—Time will probably prove that the National league made a blunder in refusing to end the professional football war with the All-America conference.

The high cost of operating under present conditions was expected to bring the two leagues together at the Chicago meetings, but armistice proposals fell through and the bonanza thus will continue for the collegians.

The all-America conference came out of its meeting stronger than ever, with the circuit cut to seven teams through the withdrawal of the Dodgers from Ebbets field.

The consolidation of the Dodgers and New York Yankees will give New York a strong team and left-over players, along with unsigned draftees will be assigned to the Chicago Rockets, to give the latter club a badly needed shot in the arm.

THE FACT that they will have only seven teams, needn't be detrimental to financial or artistic success. They will play more interesting football and will top off the season with a double playoff, which should help bolster gate receipts.

How long this new setup can continue is a point over which the National league no doubt is pondering, for as long as this lasts payrolls will continue to stay in the stratosphere. The college football player is justified in hoping that it never ends.

The old days when the collegian had to accept what the National league offered, or stay out of pro football, are over now. It is a good thing for the graduate who wants to pick up a few loose bucks upon leaving the halls of learning and entering what is known as the cruel hard world outside.

THE ONE CERTAINTY before the meetings even opened was that the Dodgers had to go one way or another. They couldn't draw enough in Brooklyn to pay the park help and Branch Rickey's colleagues in ownership of the club refused to go any farther under the previous setup.

As partners with the Yankees they should be able to do all right, and it also undoubtedly means the end of pro football in Brooklyn. They were never a success in the National league and fell off even worse in the all-America.

It took Rickey and his colleagues just a season to learn the facts of life in Brooklyn.

OUT OF THIS shuffling will come the biggest break for the Chicago Rockets who have killed their own chances in Chicago and elsewhere in the league through failure to muster an able team.

The Rockets have been the real doormats of the pro circuits and have suffered heavily at the box office in competition with the Bears and Cardinals of the National league who have an old following, plus good ball clubs.

As usual, the weak teams will scuffle for money on both circuits and that is where the pinch will come for the National league, which had a chance to wipe out the high payrolls, but elected to continue the fight.

Check-Chat Scheduled Tomorrow

CLEVELAND — (AP) —A little check-chat tomorrow between Manager Lou Boudreau and President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians probably will boost the star shortstop into the position of major league baseball's big money man of 1949.

The salary confab was to have taken place this morning, but Veeck delayed it last night after weather conditions cancelled his scheduled flight here from New York.

Although the front office of the world champion Indians doesn't tell such things for publication sportswriters generally agreed Boudreau will be given a two-year contract paying about $80,000 a season in salary and attendance bonuses.

REPLACE CONTRACT

It was estimated he earned about $50,000 plus bonuses last year under a two-year contract which had a year to go but which will be replaced by tomorrow's agreement.

Only Rapid Robert Feller, who reportedly drew $82,000 from the Tribe last season, and the late Babe Ruth, who was believed to have topped $80,000 one year, had baseball earnings comparable to what Boudreau is expected to make next season.

Feller comes here for a bargaining session in a week or so, and rumor has it he will take a cut of about $10,000.

Veeck said a month ago he'd "like to make as much next year myself as Feller's cut will be."

LOOKS FOR CHANGE

Feller said in New York Saturday he expected to start with the same basic salary as last year—about $40,000, but looked for adjustments in the bonus arrangements.

Just what the attendance bonus clauses will mean to Boudreau and Feller is something Veeck himself would like to know. The Tribe prexy is wondering whether next season might not see a letdown.

Denied a pennant since 1921, fans here were starved for a winner, and last year's three-way American league struggle right down to an extra, post-season play-off kept interest hot.

In trying to forecast next season's gate at the big lakefront stadium, Veeck is sure of one thing—he's sure Mother Nature isn't going to give him another season like 1948 when not a single game the Tribe had scheduled here was rained out.

Michigan to Get National Pigskin 'Cup' From Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (AP) — Michigan beat out Notre Dame in the 1948 Associated Press poll for the national collegiate football championship, but the Irish will provide the trophy.

Fred Miller, president of the Notre Dame Monogram club and captain of the 1928 Irish gridders, will present the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell memorial trophy to the Michigan team, Feb. 1.

The occasion will be the annual winter meeting of the Detroit Times Quarterback club, in the Detroit Masonic temple.

Notre Dame retired a previous national championship emblem, the Dr Henry L. Williams trophy, in 1947 Minnesota put the Williams cup in play after winning the Knute Rockne trophy in 1940. Notre Dame had provided the Rockne trophy after retiring the Jack F. Rissman trophy in 1930.

Scoring Doesn't Matter In Ohio College Cage Play

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

COLUMBUS—It doesn't matter how many points you get in this funny Ohio college cage race—it's when you get them that counts.

For instance: Steubenville has scored 560 points in 10 games, and has won two; Wooster has 492 and Mt. Union 483 in 10 games, but each has won five; and Findlay, with 564—only four more than Steubenville—has won six of its ten starts.

Bowling Green has rolled up 1043 points in winning nine of 15, but Dayton has done the same with only 844 points.

The same thing shows up on the defensive side. Wilberforce has allowed 47 points a game to tie Mt. Union for the best record in that department, but Wilberforce has won 10 of 11 while the Mounts have dropped five of 10.

TIED AT TOP

In the won-lost division Cincinnati and Akron are tied at the top with 11 victories in 12 starts. The Rubber City Zippers falling off the peak as they suffered a 63-43 setback at the hands of Duquesne last week. Wilberforce is next with 10-1 and Marietta's Pioneers are fourth with 8-2.

Cincinnati faces a couple of tough ones this week as the Bearcats entertain the Phillips Oilers Wednesday and meet West Virginia Saturday on the Mountaineer floor. Akron's lone start is against fifth-place Muskingum, which has won seven of eight on its home floor in an over-all 10-3 season. On their home boards the Muskies have rolled up 553 points to 393 for eight opponents — and that's where they meet the Zippers.

HIGH AVERAGE

Capital's Lutherans zoomed into the high average scoring lead with a 79-per-game mark last week. The Lutherans' lowest score is 63 points and they lost that one to Ohio Wesleyan, 68-63. Their highest count is 99, and they lost that one to Marietta by a single point.

The Ohio squads play 34 games this week, 18 against out-of-state opponents. One game is in the Western conference, with Ohio State invading Michigan Saturday; two are in the Mid-American with Butler playing Ohio U. and Miami, Friday and Saturday, and five are in the Ohio conference, headlined by Saturday's Akron-Muskingum fray.

Last week Ohio's teams won 10 of 15 games against foreign foes.

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE

MONDAY—Wilmington at Bluffton and Rio Grande at Kentucky Christian.
TUESDAY—Ohio University at Ohio Wesleyan, Baldwin-Wallace at Kent State, Kentucky Wesleyan at Davton and Kent State (Canton Branch) at Hiram.
WEDNESDAY—Phillips Oilers at Cincinnati and Bluffton at Cedarville.
THURSDAY—Wilmington at Cedarville.
FRIDAY—Capital at Kenyon, Ohio Wesleyan at Marietta, Butler at Ohio University, Wheaton College at Baldwin-Wallace and Rio Grande at Wright Field.
SATURDAY—Ohio State at Michigan, Capital at Ohio Northern, Ohio Wesleyan at Morehead State College, Mt. Union at Case, Miami at Butler, Marietta at Fairmont W. Va., Cincinnati at West Virginia, Duquesne at Bowling Green, Findlay at Heidelberg, Denison at Patterson Field, Kent State at Wooster, Philander Smith at Wilberforce, University Akron at Muskingum and Louisville at Xavier.

Bearden's Not Worried About 2nd Year Jinx

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Handsome Gene Bearden, the flinger who made the world series in his freshman year, says the sophomore jinx doesn't bother him.

But he won't predict how many games he will win in '49, when the Cleveland Indians will be defending their world championship.

His speech flavored with a touch of Tennessee drawl, the lanky Tribe pitcher told a reporter:

"Lots of things can happen. I'll be out there throwin' and I'll let somebody else add 'em up."

Last season his victories added to 20, against seven losses. No. 20 was the play-off game with Boston for the American league title. Then he went on to win a series game and do a relief job in the final series contest.

Those are the principal reasons he was selected by Cleveland baseball writers as the town's "baseball man of the year." He will be the guest of honor tonight at the writers' annual dinner.

Buck Tankers On Star Team

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Ohio State's tank stars, Bill Smith and Bruce Harlan, were holders today of honors from the Amateur Athletic Union.

Smith and Harlan have been named to the Union's All-America men's swimming team of 1948. Smith was selected for his 220 and 440-yeard free style and 880-yard free style relay. Harlan was chosen as champion springboard diver.

Akron's Jim McLane was named to the All-America team for his 880-yard free style, one-mile free style and 880-yard free style quartet.

Crucial Big 9 Tilt Is Listed This Week End

CHICAGO —(INS)— The crucial moment in their undefeated basketball season lies in wait this week for the scoring Golden Gophers of Minnesota—they play at Illinois Saturday night.

This, the only meeting of the two teams on the 1949 card, must be viewed as the kingmaker of all Western conference games. Minnesota, winner of 13 straight games, has won all five of its Big Nine contests. Illinois, winner of 12 out of 13, has won all three of its conference tests.

No other team in the conference has lost less than two games in league play, a fact which only serves to point up the forthcoming Illinois-Minnesota scrap all the more.

The Gophers have held conference foes to less than 38 points per game.

SECOND TO DICK

Minnesota's Whitey Skoog, 22-year-old sophomore, has tallied 85 points in his five league games, although his 17-point per-game average puts him second to Dick Schnittker of Ohio State.

Schnittker has tallied 60 points in three conference games for a fiery per-game average of 20.

Northwestern is host to Marquette in a non-conference game tonight, and Ohio State plays at St. Louis in another non-league game tomorrow. The week's conference activity is limited to Saturday night, when Minnesota plays at Illinois, Ohio at Michigan, and Purdue at Northwestern (Chicago Stadium).

Cleveland Cagers Win Over Galion

GALION—The Cleveland Rosenblooms led all the way to defeat the Galion Stars basketball team, 57 to 42, here yesterday afternoon.

Score by quarters favored the Rosies, 16 to 7, 36 to 15 and 47 to 28. Fred Becker and Bill Bisson, former Western Reserve cagers, led Cleveland with 12 points apiece while Jim Corbett had 11 for Galion.

Galion is scheduled to play the Fixible Clippers of Loudonville here next Sunday.

Kovacs Wins 2nd Clay Court Title

ST. AUGUSTINE, FLA.—(INS) — Frank Kovacs, of Oakland, Cal., holds the national professional clay court tennis title for the second year in a row today at St. Augustine.

The hard-hitting Kovacs defeated Welby Van Horn, of Philadelphia, yesterday in a gruelling three hour match. Kovacs rallied in the third set to win the match and the title, 2-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2.

Ex-Champ Dies

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Warner Slocum, national tennis champion in 1888 and 1889, died in St. Luke's hospital yesterday, not knowing his wife had passed away just 10 hours earlier.

Albritton Is Third

COLUMBUS —(INS)— A former Ohio State university track star, Dave Albritton, placed third in the running high jump of the Knights of Columbus meet Saturday in Boston.

Burke Takes Van From Ben

LONG BEACH, CALIF. — (AP) — Youthful Jack Burke jr., headed into the final round of the $10,000 Long Beach Open golf tournament today as the leader and gallery favorite, but he faced a hard task in quest of his first major victory.

Burke set out with a 54-hole score of 203, thanks to a brilliant 66 round yesterday.

One stroke back was the most dangerous player in golf, Ben Hogan. And three shots away from the leader, in an all-Texas threesome, was Jimmy Demaret.

Burke, 25 years old and a marine for four years, is professional in White Plains, N. Y., but he is a native of Houston, Tex., where his father, the late Jack Burke sr., was a leading pro for 17 years.

Swedish Pair Beating Field On the Boards

NEW YORK — (INS) — Many centuries ago, ten thousand Swedes came out of the woods in high gear at the battle of Copenhagen, and now two others are running even faster and spread-eagling the cream of American athletes.

The latest smorgasbord speedsters are two olympians, Ingvar Bengtsson and Erik Ahlden. Over the week-end, this pair was 100 per cent perfect despite the fact that they were competing on board tracks for the first time.

TAKE DEBUTS

Bengtsson, a stocky fireman, won the mile in his American debut in Philadelphia Friday night, and Ahlden copped the two-mile without exerting himself.

Then, with only 24 hours' rest, the Swedish swifties moved over to Boston, Saturday night and gave two more demonstrations of their spectacular stretch wallop.

Bengtsson won the 1,000-yard run, and Ahlden captured the Leo Larrivee two-mile run by twelve yards from Fred Wilt in the dazzling time of 9:03.2. This was the fastest time recorded for the distance indoors since Greg Rice hung up his shoes.

State Cagers Working Hard

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Ohio State coach Tippy Dye put his third place western conference basketball team through its first intensive workout today in preparation for its first test against not-so-mighty Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The Wolverines, who have dropped big nine tilts with Minnesota and Purdue, also will resume practice after a two-week lay off for semester exams.

With the return of star Dick Schnittker to the line-up in Ohio State's 66 to 56 win over Purdue Saturday, Dye is counting on his squad giving the arch-rival Michigan outfit a run for its money.

Patty Berg Wins Tampa Open Golf

TAMPA, FLA. — (UP) — Patty Berg, the red-haired golfing miss from Minneapolis, today was being congratulated for her one-stroke victory over Mrs. Babe Didrickson Zaharias in the Tampa Women's Open tournament.

Miss Berg wound up the 72-hole play yesterday with a 295, equalling the record for women's competitive medal play set by Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., in the 1947 Women's Open at Greensboro, S.C.

Larned Wins

ORLANDO, Fla. —(AP)— Gardner Larned lived up to his top ranking to win the Florida State Tennis tournament yesterday. The Chicago netter defeated Buddy Behrens of Ft. Lauderville, 6-2, 6-2 5-7, 6-0 in the finals.

Five Major Cage Quints Undefeated

NEW YORK, — (UP) — Of the four faultless fives left on the list of major unbeaten teams, only Hamline today could count itself safe from harm for the forthcoming week.

Hamline's hoop hot-shots, who have rolled up 13 victories without tasting defeat, figured to be "upset-proof" in their lone game of the week against St. Thomas of Minnesota on Tuesday. But the three other unscarred teams, Minnesota, Villanova, and Western Kentucky, face tough assignments on Saturday night.

Western Kentucky, owner of an amazing 15-0 record, will meet Eastern Kentucky, an Ohio Valley conference rival they barely nipped by three points in their last meeting. Eastern Ky. has an 11-3 record.

MARK UP 13th

Minnesota's Golden Gophers, who marked up their "lucky 13th" by a 66-5 score over Indiana last Saturday, are matched against Illinois, a Big Nine opponent that has lost only once in 13 games. The Gophers still have their twin pillars of scoring strenght, Jim McIntyre and Whitey Skoog, but the games is at the home court of the speedy Illini, and that could be the stage for an upset.

Villanova, returning to action after a two-week absence forced by mid-year examinations, will take on Georgetown at the latter's court in a game that had to be rated a toss-up despite Villanova's 11-0 mark.

Although the week's schedule is much lighter than usual because of those mid-year tests, it is filled with quality. Thus the four games involving unbeaten teams will be hard-pressed to hold the spotlight against games featuring national title contenders that have lost once, twice, or three times.

National Schedules 179 at Night

NEW YORK — (UP) — The National league, showing utter disregard for its electric light bills, will crack a Major league record for night games by playing 179 of them during 1949 the official schedule revealed today.

Before the campaign comes to a close, it is likely that the league will play close to 200 games because of a prevalent practice among clubs to re-schedule rained-out day games as night games later on in the season.

During 1948, the National league established a record for night games by playing 173 arc-contests, some 30 more than originally had been scheduled.

Legislation enacted during the recent winter meetings, helped to boost the total of night games. It called for all clubs to play at least five night games in each opposing park if the home club so desires.

The St. Louis Cardinals, one of the leading exponents of night baseball, have scheduled 43 to pace the loop. St. Louis also topped the league in 1948 with 40 night games.

Next to the Cardinals are the defending pennant-winners, the Boston Braves, with 32 night games, followed by the Philadelphia Phillies with 30. Pittsburgh has scheduled 25 while the Brooklyn Dodgers are down for 21, an increase of seven over their originally announced 14.

New York and Cincinnati are listed for 14 night games each while the Chicago Cubs remained the last outpost in the Majors for exclusive day-time baseball. They don't even have lights in their park.

The season will get under way on April 18 when the Braves and Phillies celebrate Patriot's day in Boston by playing a single game. The following day Brooklyn will be at New York, St. Louis at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh at Chicago and Philadelphia at Boston for a double-header.

Cincinnati leads the list in twin-bills with 13 double-headers at home. The Phillies have 10 while Pittsburgh and Boston each have scheduled seven. St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Brooklyn each are down for three.

The annual All-Star game will be held at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn for the first time in history on Tuesday, July 12.

Each of the 16 clubs are scheduled to play 154 games as per custom and the curtain comes down on the campaign Oct. 2.

Pupils Vie In Drive For Stamps

Simpson Students Get $1,150 Worth

By CAROLYN KENDIG

The Red Cross sales tax stamp drive which ends Feb. 1 at John Simpson Junior high school has produced about $1,150 worth of sales tax stamps.

The competition is quite close with Room 102, the rabbit, in the lead with 315, but the hunters of 214, followed by 105, are close behind. Lerot Bowman of 114 has been chosen new Red Cross representative from his room.

On Feb 8, members of Simpson's band will play at a Fifth street school P-TA meeting. Highlights of the program will be a trumpet quartet consisting of Chuck Laser, Kenny Haverfield, Bob Hiskey, and John Troupe A clarinet trio also will do a number

On Monday afternoon, a group from Miss Louise Lynch's dramatic classes enjoyed two one-act plays and the play, "Suicide." The other plays were a comedy, "Let's Make Up" and a tragedy "Afraid of the Dark" These plays were put on by the senior high dramatics classes. The purpose of this entertainment was to permit the junior dramatics groups to see someone more experienced than themselves perform.

George Johnson entertained Simpson students Jan 18 with his jokes and "Bach to Boogie" After a couple of jokes, he opened the program with a selection from Bach, followed by selections from Mozart, and other well-known composers, then merging right into real "boogie."

DUE NEXT FRIDAY

The next issue of the Times will be issued in Jan. 28

Two substitutes came to Simpson on Friday. Mrs. G E. Price took the singing and choral classes of Miss Fanny Lou Eiler and Mrs. Marlene West's substitute was Mrs. E. V. Ruhl Mrs. Francis Theader is still substituting for Miss Nellie McIlvaine.

Business and editorial staffs will combine to feature the Times dance on Feb 11 The chairmen of the committees are· Posters, Jack Knight; skits over P. A. S., Jane Germany; tickets, Carolyn Thierlien; check room, Joanne Haerle; door, Barbara Yeager, and refreshments, Jim Amsbaugh

Simpson found all water supply cut off Friday afternoon when a water pipe in the building burst.

Stardust dazzled nearly 200 members and their guests who enjoyed the annual GAA banquet Friday in the gym. Hoagy Carmichal's song, "Stardust" was the background for the theme of the decorations The banquet was followed by a dance from 8 to 11 o'clock. Music was furnished by the Simpson dance band. Mrs. Frances Hypes and staff served the banquet.

Coach Kennedy's gym classes are keeping physically fit with tumbling, kick ball and later will play stick hockey Boys' intramural basketball tournament will continue for about a month. "Skip" Burns is sports head.

GET NEW BOOKS

Director Smilanich's gym classes are practicing hard in preparation for the intramural basketball tournament which will start as soon as the boys finish their tournament.

Don Geib, Room 102, of the projection crew has been accepted as a memb. of the SSS

Last F. day the ninth grade clothing classes presented a style show with the ninth grade foods classes as guests. The show consisted of three parts: skirts and blouses, modeled by Harlena Bailey, Mary Booker, Viola Brooks, Doris Coleman, Carolyn Cushing, Margaret Callahan, Ollie Clemons, Joan Kaiser, Bernice Riley, Joan Riggleman, Rose Sgambellone, Lucy Valerio and Mary Walker; dresses shown by Carolyn Cushing, Phyllis Day, Lucy Valerio and Mary Walker To top it off, dreamy slumber wear was shown by Margaret Callehan, Joan Kaiser, Bernice Riley, Joan Riggleman and Rose Sgambellone Phyllis Day also modeled a housecoat. Most of the girls in the eighth clothing classes have finished their skirts and have started on their blouses

Ninth foods families are struggling to keep within their budgets, considering household equipment and discussing problems while eating together the meals they are learning to prepare.

Payroll records, bookkeeper's problems, and record keeping are very much on everyone's mind just now when Uncle Sam is demanding his cut in income taxes, so Misses Ruth and Hazel Craig's mathematics and algebra classes and Edwin Cooper's business training classes are studying payroll records, percentages, equations and record keeping.

Junior Safety Patrol boys will have a great treat when in several weeks they will see a show at the Madison or the Ohio. Frend Boals, traffic commissioner, is taking care of the arrangements.

Pre-Primer For Children Among New Library Books

A pre-primer for boys and girls who are just learning to read, entitled "Terry Book,' is one of several new books being added to the Children's room at Mansfield Public library

The story concerns the antics of a boy, a girl, a goat and a dog, and their many adventures together

"Smudge," the new book by Clare Newberry, should delight all children who like to watch baby kittens play. Smudge, Junior and Betty Jo are left alone one day anad get out of the box with no one looking. Smudge has a grand fight with the window curtain and wins! When the fight was over he didn't have a scratch, but you should have seen the window curtain!

If you like a book which begins, "Just around the corner from yesterday," you will want to read "Daisy and Dobbin," an adventure of seahorses who meet a Chinese mermaid, with straight black hair

Horse lovers already know Marguerite Henry's book about "Misty of Chincoteague" and have been asking for another one for many months Here it is — "King of the Wind" a story of the Arab Godolphin An Arab king sent six of his best horses and their private grooms as a gift to the young prince of France On the way a wicked captain starved both horses and grooms so that they arrived in bad condition.

ADVENTURE STORY

The horses were put to manual labor, and one of them, with its groom, Agba, was sold. The book follows the adventures of Agba and his horse, a broken-down nag, from owner to owner, into jail, into hard work, and at last into the hands of a kind and understanding owner, who feeds and cares for both At the last the great horse comes into his own, without winning a race, and becomes one of the greatest horses of all times

"Boy On Horseback," by Lincoln Steffens, is the autobiography of a famous man. In this book, though, there is little of the famous writer and newspaperman he became, for this is the story of a boy's life full of fun, pranks, trouble, joy and sorrow. The most memorable incident is in the chapter, "Miserable Merry Christmas" That was the year Linc asked for a horse Nothing else If he couldn't have a horse he didn't want anything Imagine his horror on Christmas morning to find that he had been taken literally. He had no horse — in fact, no gifts at all There are other chapters and other incidents, too. The whole story is one just right for older boys

Older girls will enjoy "Quite Contrary," By Mary Urmston, the story of Sandra Carlin and a florist shop. How Sandra solves the problems of finding enough business to keep the shop going makes a good story, full of fun and real everyday living programs, with a glimpse into a job of which we know little. A bit of romance is added for interest.

"Rocket In My Pocket," by Carl Withers, is a book for all ages. It is a collection of rhymes, sayings, counting-out verses, weather folklore, tongue twisters, silly rhymes and the like

Police Capture Teen-Age Gang

PORTSMOUGH, — (INS) — Portsmouth police had on their hands today a gang of six teen age boys who have confessed to at least 31 robberies which netted hundreds of dollars in cash and an unknown quantity of merchandise in the last two months

They said the juveniles, ranging in age from 12 to 16, looted two churches, five schools and a number of business places.

Introduction of new "wonder" drugs have brought recent deaths from influenza and pneumonia in the United States to unprecedented low levels, but specialists insist that some types of these diseases are not amenable to the new treatments and an epidemic rise in deaths at some future time is not impossible.

Production Of Steel Still High

Buyers Stock Up For Inventories

CLEVELAND, —(UP)— Pressure on the steel market remains high despite reduced operations in some lines because buyers continue to take tonnage for inventory, the magazine steel said today.

The metalworking trade journal said that any slack which has occurred at the mill level apparently has been taken up by diverting shipments elsewhere.

"For that matter," it said, 'there have been only a few outright cancellations, buyers, in general, continuing to take steel for inventory even where they have reduced operations. As a result, the overall supply situation in all major products continues stringent."

Steel said the scrap market, where prices broke recently, is "as confused as a week ago, with buying at a virtual standstill."

"The tone of the market is very soft," the magazine said, "and further price cutting is expected with stocks piling up in dealer yards."

However, Steel reported, a survey of the major steel companies revealed no important cancellations of contract for German scrap shipments.

The publication's weekly production survey showed steelmaking operations last week set another all-time record. The national ingot rate advanced one point to 100 per cent of capacity, equivalent to about 1,843,516 net tons. This compared with 1,830,600 tons for the preceding week.

In individual districts, operations rose 5 points to 104 per cent at Cincinnati, 4 ½ to 84.5 at St Louis, 3 to 99.5 at Cleveland, 2 to 97 in eastern Pennsylvania, 1 ½ to 98.5 at Pittsburgh and 1 to 87 in New England Operations were off 1 point to 105 at Detroit and ½ to 99 at Chicago.

River Dragged After Leap

PORTSMOUTH, — (INS) — Portsmouth police today were dragging the Ohio River for the body of a tall, slender man about 25-years-old who fell or jumped into the rain-swollen stream late yesterday

A passing motorist said he stopped when he saw the man standing on the rail of the U. S. Grant bridge on the Ohio-Kentucky state line.

The motorist said when he jumped from the car to stop him, the man disappeared, presumably into the 60 feet of water below.

Everybody Happy Now

CHICAGO — (INS) — Famed comedian Ted Lewis had an affirmative answer today to his perennial question "Is Everybody Happy?"

The reply came in Chicago Circuit court when the comedian and a Chicago hotel waiter shook hands and called off cross suits totaling $105,000.

Lewis and waiter Julius Grant had an argument two years ago when Grant delivered a tray of food to a nightclub where Lewis was playing.

Grant said Lewis became angry when he saw the hotel had not sent a table with the tray and that this provoked a quarrel in which the two men exchanged blows.

Lewis claimed he had his hand in a cast for six weeks and sued Grant for $100,000—Grant countered with a $5,000 suit against the comedian.

The case came before the court. Lewis learned that Grant was wounded while fighting in Europe and had spent 14 months in hospitals. He then asked the judge to dismiss his suit.

Grant did likewise and Lewis shouted:

"Is Everybody Happy?"

What Life Insurance did in 1948

· For you...
· For 78 Million other policy owners...
· For America!

Four out of five families in 1948 faced our uncertain world with the peace of mind that comes from being protected by life insurance.

For you . . . for the 78 million other Americans owning life insurance in 1948, your policies "paid off" in the present, every day of the year.

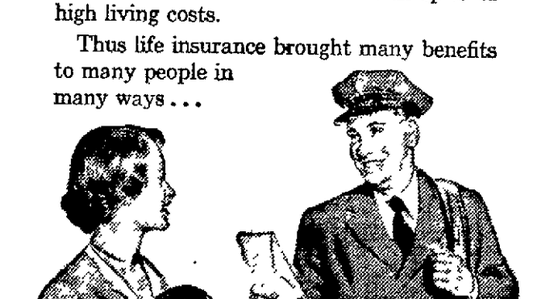
Every day your life insurance brought you as head of your family the satisfaction—the peace of mind—that comes from your effort to "do right by the family," no matter what might happen to you.

To the extent of your insurance protection you and your family were relieved of major worries. And so you were free to use your efforts where they count most: To solve today's problems, to get ahead towards your goals.

Yes, life insurance provides three services: It provides now for protection against future risks. It brings peace of mind for the present. It consequently helps people get ahead! As a result, Americans believe in it, and continue to increase their ownership of life insurance.

All told, they owned more than $201 billion of life insurance last year—over $6,000 of protection per insured family. And they did this on their own initiative . . . in spite of high living costs.

Thus life insurance brought many benefits to many people in many ways . . .



Families kept together in time of need! In 1948 life insurance companies paid $1,430 million primarily to the beneficiaries of men and women who voluntarily built up funds through life insurance to help keep the family a "going concern" And keeping families together keeps the country strong.

Helped reach family goals! Last year again, more than half of the $3,170 million life insurance money paid out was paid during the lifetime of the policy owners themselves. These payments included money to put children through college . . . to help older folks retire. Other payments made realities of trips and other "someday" plans. They also helped families over unexpected emergencies. And there were substantial premium refunds, in the form of dividends, to policy owners.

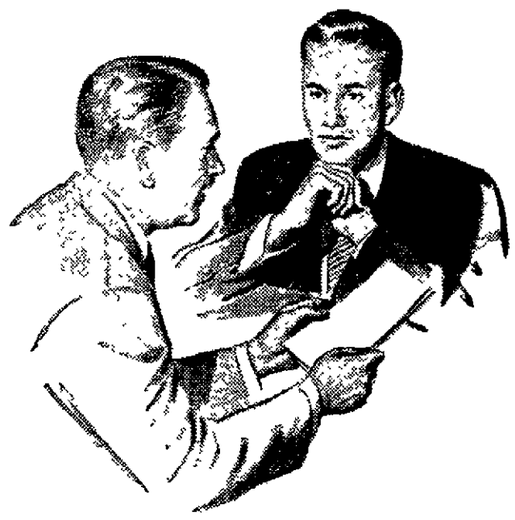
Significant highlights of a business which affects every American

1. Four out of five American families were protected by one or more life insurance policies
2. 78,000,000 people own them
3. These policies represent $201 billion of protection
4. Backing up this protection is $55 billion . . . invested, earning interest, and aiding the nation's growth
5. $1,430 million was paid out in death benefits
6. $1,740 million—more than half of all payments—were made during the life of the policy owner.



Money put to work for the benefit of all! The money needed for future payments to 78 million policy owners was working money! It was invested by 549 separate life insurance companies. It earned money for the policy owners . . . helped to reduce life insurance costs. It helped, too, to finance your government, to build factories, to make jobs, to provide housing . . . for everybody's benefit!

Thus in 1948 the average policy owner's part in the country's progress increased to $710. This was another new high. It was a testimonial to the American family's thrift and foresight and faith in the future.

Yes, through life insurance the people did much for themselves and for America in 1948! In this they were helped by their life insurance agents . . . trained men and women who are doing something far more than just "selling insurance." They are helping people to plan their protection according to their present needs . . . helping them provide for the future in the "do-it-yourself" spirit that is America!

For what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

This report is based on the operations of 549 separate and competing legal reserve companies. This report to America is made again because their business, directly or indirectly, affects every American. The policies which these companies issue, and the benefits which they pay, and the investments which they make are important stabilizing forces in our national life. The fact that these companies are competitive in every detail keeps them serving the national interest best.

Hello!

Yes, this is Mac McQuade speaking - - - - - YES SIR, that ad describes a mighty fine home - - - - - No, we're sorry but we don't release property addresses over the phone. However, there is absolutely no obligation to you. It is our job to actually present any property we have for sale, and my salesman will be more than glad to arrange an appointment for you AT YOUR CONVENIENCE. We are in business for no other reason than to render the service we have agreed to do. You may rest assured that we are specifically employed by the owner to sell his property, for we handle nothing but "Exclusive listings," and - - - - - We sure do know all the details about that home. We can describe it from top to bottom. Any question you have in mind don't hesitate to ask, and listen, our reputation for advertising better homes at better prices is spreading far and wide; so don't be concerned with the thought that a salesman from this staff will waste your time showing you a property that is outrageously priced - - - - - WHAT'S THAT? - - - - - Well, I'm certainly glad to hear you say that sir; for, like yourself, a considerable number of other prospective buyers have been contacting this office day after day saying that my organization has been highly recommended by a close friend. Tell your friend thanks many - - - - - YES SIR! THANKS AGAIN. Now let' set a time for your appointment. - - - - - After working hours? There is very good reason to believe such arrangements can be made. We show property at night as well as during the day. The owner will be contacted in advance, and every effort will be made to let you inspect every portion of the home as thoroughly and critically as you please. You may speak your mind freely too, while on the premises. The owner leaves everything in our hands - - - - - Alright! Tonight at 8:00, and your name? - - - - - I. M. FORTUNATE, 182 BYER'S STREET Very good Mr. Fortunate. The salesman will be there, and you're going to see a mighty nice home. Thank you very much, Sir. Good by.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

U. S. Steel Leads Selective Boost In Wall Street Prices

NEW YORK — (INS) — The stock market displayed selective strength in forenoon dealings today. A sharp rise in U. S. Steel was a highlight.

Big Steel advanced to 73½ for a gain of 1⅜ points on persistent buying demand. Other industrial favorites, however, were limited to small fractional gains. Included in this category were Allied Chemical, Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, Mathieson Chemical and National Biscuit.

Radio Corporation was laggard, easing ⅜ to 13⅛

Rail issues also were inclined to be backward. Atchison dropped ¾ to 102, and Southern Pacific was off ½ at 48. Baltimore and Ohio ruled unchanged at 10⅝.

The bond market was irregularly higher with demand lifting Third Avenue Transit System issues fractionally higher.

Commodities held narrowly Wheat and corn were about steady while cotton gained up to 20 cents a bale.

Two Killed as Navy Plane Crashes, Burns Near Toledo

Pilot Saved From Flames In Wreckage

Accident Blamed On Murky Skies

TOLEDO—(AP)— Groping for a landing in murky weather, a twin-engine navy plane crashed and burned just east of municipal airport last night. Two crew members were killed. The pilot was critically injured.

At the controls was Lt. (J.G.) Louis D. Robinson of Dill, Okla. He remained in a critical condition at St. Vincent's hospital.

Killed in the accident were James William Murphy, 29, of Patterson, N. J., a chief machinist's mate, and Charles Adrian Doiron 27, of Sulphur, La., an aviation machinist's mate, 2nd class.

The craft was an R-4-D, the navy version of the DC-3 commercial airliner, based at Glenview Naval Air station, Ill.

It had taken a group of reserve officers to a conference at Norfolk, Va., and left Norfolk at 3 35 p. m. on the return trip.

As bad weather closed in, the ship contacted the control tower here to come in for a landing.

Lt. Robinson made two passes over the field in zero visibility, at 7:26 p. m. The plane passed over Pennsylvania railroad tracks at the edge of the field, plowed into the ground and cut a swath about 400 feet long Immediately it burst into flames.

RED ARROW PASSING

Apparently the Pennsylvania railroad's eastbound "Red Arrow" was passing the airport at the time of the crash.

Mrs. Henry Knudson, on whose farm the ship struck, said that simultaneously with the rumble of the plane she heard the train whistle for a crossing.

"Just as I heard the loud crashing sound, everything seemed to light up," she said.

Jerry Hines, a hangar attendant at the airport, was one of the first rescue workers to reach the burning aircraft. He heard the pilot crying for help.

"I attempted to lift the nose from where the voice was coming but it was too heavy, and getting hot," he said.

Other help arrived, and the nose was partially raised Lt Robinson slipped from the burning wreckage, his head bleeding and his clothing smoking.

Boy Killed In Accident

turned quickly to fire at crows, officials said.

The youth was shot with a 25-20 rifle which the Boutwell boy was carrying, it was reported.

Following the shooting, Robert went to a neighboring farmer, Wilbur Stephan, who phoned Dr. John R. Kingsboro in Shelby. The physician ordered an ambulance to take the victim to the hospital. Howard, as he was known in the community, was carried out of the woods on a blanket.

The victim was given several blood transfusions in an effort to save his life He was shot in the right side from a distance of 10 feet, Dr Kingsboro said The shot penetrated the liver, kidney and spine.

Sheriff Ralph Schreck of Crawford county reported John Richards, a deputy, investigated but could learn no details of how the shooting occurred

The body was taken to the Dye funeral home in Shelby where services will be held at 1 30 p m Thursday with Rev. Palmer Manson, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren church, officiating. Burial will be in Hinckley cemetery in Medina county

'Hands Off,' Union Warns

the rank and file of Local 711 . . ."

They specifically cited International UE officers who distributed literature which read, in part: "Communists have a right to belong to our union; communists are among the founders and builders of the union and are among the militant fighters in UE."

The membership instructed the chairman of its local to declare any further discussion of the issues out of order at any future meeting, as a disruptive tactic used to confuse - - - unless the membership should by constitutional procedure pass amendments nullifying previous actions.

An attempt to have the president and chief steward of Local 711 removed from office, on charges that their order that all officers of the local sign non-communist affidavits was unconstitutional, was defeated.

By a vote of 15 to 1, the membership passed a motion "supporting the action of its officers on the issue of enforcement of the constitutional amendment (banning members of subversive organizations from holding office)."

The motion continued: "The so-called charges of Charles Zuber be dissolved because they were not constitutional in the fact that such charges must be presented against the entire membership of Local 711, not against its officers, because all acts committed by President Hawkins and Chief Steward Russel Yarman, had the sanction of the rank and file - - - "

Hawkins said Zuber was one of three stewards removed from office because he failed to sign a statement affirming he was not a communist

At a previous meeting the stewards of the union unanimously endorsed all the resolutions.

County Engineer Plans Townships' Road Check

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk is arranging with township trustees to drive with them over township highways in the various townships to review the road situations.

Rusk said his purpose was to determine what is needed before the annual spring road meeting early in March. Township trustees will hold meetings then with Rusk and the county commissioners about road improvements needed.

Hungry Cat Causes Shortage Of Laboratory's White Mice

CINCINNATI, — (AP) — Some 10,000 little white mice—destined for martyrdom in a science laboratory—may have suffered a worse fate, police fear.

It's likely some feline gourmet made off with the mice—that is if a human suspect isn't involved, Deputy Sheriff Michael Ott said today.

Aaron E. Kaibel of neighboring New Burlington, who raises mice for experimental purposes—such as infantile paralysis research—reported the mice disappeared from a building on his property during the past 12 months.

Keeping close count on his losses for a one-week period, he told Hamilton County Sheriff Dan Tehan, he discovered nearly 500 mice disappeared during the seven days.

Kaibel said he had the only key to a special lock on the door of the building and added he could find no signs that anyone tampered with the three windows in the building.

Kaibel sells about 1,000 mice a week to a distribution firm. Ott said if no human suspects turn up, he feared a feline 'Raffles' is involved.

Cotton Blaze Proves Costly

FRESNO, Calif. — (INS) — A spectacular fire raged early today at a large cotton warehouse six miles north of Fresno, causing damage estimated up to a million dollars.

Some 5,000 to 7,000 bales of cotton were believed destroyed inside the warehouse which was owned by Cecil F. White, a Democratic member of the U. S. House of representatives.

No casualties were reported in the blaze which authorities believe may have been of incendiary origin.

Midwestern Mart Studied

CHICAGO — (AP) — Stock exchange members in nine cities will decide if they want one major central midwestern market.

James E. Day, President of the Chicago Stock Exchange, said today a written plan for a new trading organization will be drawn up and be submitted to a vote of the combined memberships.

Twenty-two representatives of regional exchanges met last week to discuss the proposed organization, tentatively named the midwest stock exchange.

Day said the representatives heard committee reports on the proposal. He declined to say whether the reports were favorable, adding that a written plan would be drawn up and submitted "within 60 to 90 days."

Members will be polled in the exchanges at Cincinnati, Cleveland, Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Louis, Boston, Pittsburgh, New Orleans and Chicago, Day said.

The proposed consolidation would not be designed to compete with the eastern markets. It's purpose is to provide a midwestern market for stocks of midwestern corporations and to serve the small investor—the man who buys five, ten or 15 shares of national issues.

Truman's Promises To World Can Be Pitfalls

Never before on so solemn an occasion has an American President promised so much to so many. Nevertheless the great vision of the inaugural address could be realized if the people of the world were in fact divided into those who believe in the false philosophy of communism and the true philosophy of democracy

For the population, the resources, and the knowledge in the non-communist portion of humanity are immeasurably greater than in the other. Backed by the military power of the United States, assisted by its material contributions, educated by its technicians, and inspired by its declarations, there would be, but for the machinations of the Communists, a clear and open road for all mankind to freedom, justice, peace, and prosperity.

Yet in the cold gray dawn of the morning after we know that it is not only the new thirty-year-old devil in Moscow who bars the scent into the earthly paradise but also the old devils within ourselves and all other men.

The true philosophy of democracy has made its way slowly, and very imperfectly, among a few nations occupying a small and favored part of the globe For most of mankind it is at best an aspiration which is dimly defined and little practiced. In so far as they are misled by the false philosophy of communism, it is not only because of its lies and deceits but because the true philosophy is so hard to practice, demanding that nations and that individuals should be so much more rational, so much more public-spirited, so much more habituated to wisdom and to virtue, than in fact they are.

For these reasons an exclusive, or even a principal, preoccupation with the evils of the false philosophy can become an insurmountable obstacle to the real problems of good government. It can allow them to evade them, avoid them, to hide the issues from themselves; and to shirk the effort and the sacrifices from which it is so natural to shrink.

For while a good democrat will certainly be an anti-Communist, those who are solely anti-Communist are not likely to be good democrats. They are likely to think that if only they hate the false philosophy enough, then automatically and ex-officio so to speak, they are the exemplars of the true philosophy.

★

That is why, I dare to suggest, that when the President promised so much to so many, he would have made his task less difficult if he had been as emphatic about the difficulties of the true philosophy as he was about the evils of the false. For the plain truth is that he committed this nation so unqualifiedly to mere anti-communism that he will find his influence and his bargaining power seriously diminished.

SACRIFICES NECESSARY

If all these immense American contributions are to be had by nations if only they are sufficiently anti-communist, what inducement do we still have to offer them to make the disagreeable but necessary sacrifices, what pressure can we exert for reform and reconstruction, what restraints can we impose upon ambition and arbitrariness?

What is the good of saying in one breath that the countries of the Marshall plan must stop inflation by self-help and mutual aid and become solvent by 1952, when in the next breath we tell them that they are our allies against the false philosophy? In 1952 they will still be our allies against the false philosophy, even though they have not faced their problems.

How is Mr. Truman going to convince the politicians who do not want to face their problems that he will not subsidize them if they shirk their problems?

There was nothing in the inaugural address to suggest that the United States might withhold its subsidies and its guaranties. Therefore there was nothing that could compel or induce any one, who has gotten used to living on the dole and under the shelter of American power, to take the trouble to get off the dole and to fend for himself.

The wisest and bravest of our friends abroad would tell him privately—though few could say it publicly—that in so far as our aid and our guaranties tend to become unconditional, they prevent, rather than assist, the recovery and the stabilization of the world.

There can be no quarrel with the President's objectives, or serious opposition to the four major courses of action which he outlined. But the new vision will not be realized easily, or at all, if we disregard the teachings of experience in human affairs.

The old diplomacy was, especially in its public declarations, expressed in understatement. Its promises and its threats were extremely restrained in their language. The object was to say less than was meant. This restraint was not merely a conventional politeness. It was the result of experience which taught men that if they promised too much or threatened too sharply, they would find themselves thereafter the prisoners of their own words. The good diplomat knows that he can exert influence only in so far as he retains his own freedom of action.

Therefore he will not, as an American statesman of another generation once said to me, use his feet to stamp into the ground wooden pegs that later on he will have to pull out with his teeth

U. S. Task Force Engaging In Mass 'Operation Arctic'

ALASKA -- (INS) -- Sailors and marines steamed northward by the thousands today to learn for Uncle Sam what the Russians learned long ago

How to fight and survive in the Arctic's deadly cold.

They headed into the frigid north for a mock invasion of bleak and forbidding Kodiak island, one of the stormiest and coldest areas in the world

The "attack" will be staged by 2,000 marines and 16 000 navy men aboard a task force of more than 30 ships

The enemy will be what it always has been to every creature, man or beast, that lives in that storm-battered section of the globe - the bitter, unremitting elements.

Island "defenses" that will have to be overcome are the dread williwaw, 120-mile-an-hour winds that explode with a sudden fury, water so cold that a man can live in it for only five or six minutes, ice on plane wings, snow and slush.

It is precisely to learn to cope with such "defenses" that the task force was organized.

Particular emphasis is being placed on the landing the marine force is to make on the island Most of the marines, incidentally, are youngsters, 18 to 23, who have never been in extremely cold country before.

It is hoped to put them ashore without their even getting wet in the chilling water. To this end men over a vast area, at shore stations and on weather ships far out at sea, are working on weather charts.

From these the best time for the landing, in relation to the surf and the wind, will be worked out.

Authority Is Usurped By FCC

ONCE MORE Congress has been given direct, formal notification that the Federal Communications Commission has gone far beyond its delegated powers in granting of radio licenses, in exercising "life or death" power over radio stations, in curtailing Constitutional-guaranteed freedom of speech and by generally usurping authority not delegated to it by Congress.

Congress last June appointed ~~a~~ select committee, headed by Rep. Forest A. Harness of Indiana, which spent six months investigating operations, policies and the personnel setup of the commission.

In a 10,000-word report, the committee sharply criticized the manner in which the FCC has handled its responsibility in regulating the radio broadcasting industry and specifically cited the awarding of radio broadcasting permits to Edward Lamb.

Lamb is the Toledo lawyer who last year was granted an FM radio license for Mansfield and then voluntarily surrendered it after The News-Journal disclosed his long record of following the communist "party line," his affiliation with communist front and fellow traveler organizations and his red-tinged writings.

The Harness committee's report verified the disclosures made about Lamb by this newspaper and backs up The News-Journal's charges that the FCC has sadly mismanaged its stewardship of radio rights which in the final analysis are the property of all the people of the United States.

The committee has recommended to the new Congress that further investigation be carried on, that faults and evils of the commission be corrected and that laws governing radio regulation be overhauled, rewritten and made sufficiently specific that control of the rapidly-expanding radio industry be kept in Congress.

Under the present FCC this control is being usurped by a bureaucratic agency which generates its own authority to enforce dictatorial, discriminatory and capricious decisions.

The leadership of the Congress and the Truman administration will do well to study the Harness committee report and to act on its recommendations for the good of the radio broadcasting industry and to protect the rights of all the people.

'Farm Club' May Supplement C. of C.

WHILE an effort has been made from time to time; in past years, to bring the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce into closer contact with Richland county farmers, the present proposal to organize a "Farm Club" as an adjunct of the C. of C. seems more likely to be productive of results than any idea presented heretofore.

With Richland county nicely balanced as an industrial and agricultural community, it is important that there be mutual understanding of problems and opportunities, and that all elements of citizenship work in accord for urban and rural betterment.

Although other organizations in the city and county have specific purposes, the Chamber of Commerce is all-encompassing, insofar as its intended scope is concerned, and a co-ordination of plans and efforts would assuredly be productive of benefits throughout this area.

Will Senate Submit To Filibuster?

ONE of the major decisions the Senate must make is whether the filibuster will be abolished. Proposals to change the rules have been made to the rules committee. These changes would make it possible to break a filibuster at any time by simple majority vote of the Senate.

There is much imposing argument against tampering with the rules. It is said that to reduce the two-thirds vote required for cloture to a simple majority would destroy "the deliberative nature" of the Senate. It is declared that great harm would result from eliminating the privilege of unlimited debate on routine motions, which now are not subject to cloture. These arguments are weak. The point at issue is whether the filibuster should be abolished, nothing more.

Unfortunately the President's civil rights recommendations also are entangled with the filibuster issue. Legislation to carry out these recommendations is to be presented, and certainly would be defeated by filibuster in the Senate if the rules changes fail. Hence it is argued that the proposal to change the rules is a device to get civil rights egislation through the Senate. This might indeed be one result of ending the filibuster, but the likelihood does not make a valid argument to sustain that archaic institution.

The filibuster is a device by which an alliance of no more than half a dozen senators can prevent the passage of any legislation they oppose. It does not belong in the American philosophy of government.

More Can Now Afford Penicillin

WHEN penicillin, one of the so-called "miracle" drugs, first came into use, its cost was so high that relatively few could afford the expense of treatments.

Now, however, the National Society for Medical Research announces that production costs have been reduced to the extent of placing it within reach of persons of modest means.

Information is to the effect that when penicillin was first offered to the public a dose of 100,000 units cost $12, as compared with present cost of 40 cents.

It is now being belatedly remembered that last week's inaugural in Washington lacked only the familiar cry "Stand back! Here come the elephants," to complete the circus-like ensemble.

As the League to Support Poetry disbands it announces a loss of 20 cents on each new member—and contributions from poets could naturally not be expected to meet the deficit.

What Some Other People Are Saying

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, to Democratic workers: "All of you must get behind the Congress, the vice president and the President to carry out those principles for which we said we stood and for which the vice president and I do stand."

* * *

SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT, of the President's program: "The thing I object to is that we are promising more than we can ever do."

* * *

FEDERAL JUDGE HAROLD R. MEDINA, to defense lawyers for 11 top communists: "My conception of a judicial tribunal is to hear both sides. You apparently desire, after putting in your side, that I . . . (the prosecution) should not be allowed to put in his side."

Every Little Bit Helps.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Say Surplus Grain Can Be Used as Fuel

THE FARMER'S ancient enemy, a surplus, seems just around the corner. And its probable consequences have revived one of the great dreams of modern science—the idea of fuel from grain.

The "world's hunger" theme is going into the discard now. The surplus and what to do about it is occupying the minds of farm leaders. Even our most pessimistic official agency, the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations of the department of agriculture, now announces that the food volume of foreign nations taken collectively is very near prewar standards.

Our own prospective food production is, of course, much higher. Acreage has been enormously increased and the farmer, baited by government inducements, has exploited his acres to the full.

All this gives a big incentive to the exploitation to the revival of the chemist's dream of grain-for-alcohol-for-fuel.

Some advocates nine years ago suggested that fuel alcohol might be substituted for as much as 10 per cent of our gasoline consumption. The petroleum industry offered two arguments against this idea: First, that grain alcohol would be excessively expensive and, second, that such extensive motor adaptations would be required that the cost would be prohibitive. The war, of course, ended the argument temporarily.

* * *

Gaining Favor.

THE ANNUAL report of the President's economic advisers gives the following ratios for the nation's consumption of fuel and power: More than one-half from coal; one-third from oil; one-seventh from natural gas; and four per cent from hydro-electricity.

The outcries, three years ago, from Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes about the over-exploitation of petroleum reserves seems now to have been unfounded.

Despite greatly increasing oil consumption, the oil industry has opened up new resources in the tidelands and elsewhere which seem to be winning the race. However, the threat of war and unstable conditions in the Near East might again change the trend. On the other hand, atomic power lurks in the shadows of possibility.

A new item for the chemurgists comes from the department of agriculture. Dr. E. C. Hilbert, chief of the department's agricultural and industrial chemistry bureau, has reported some new tests and has claimed a patent for a new alcohol injection device.

It seems that new technical possibilities are opened up when alcohol is added to the process of making high octane gasoline. This gasoline, hitherto largely confined to aircraft, is now on its way to use in auto and truck motors.

The press quotes Hilbert as saying that "the present cost of installations of such a device would be $30 to $40 and that one gallon of alcohol is all that is needed for 500 miles."

He is quoted further as saying that a passenger car fed with 98 per cent low-grade gasoline and two per cent alcohol would operate just as well as if fed with high-test gasoline.

Hilbert's statements seem to have made an impression on his audience in the petroleum conference of farmer cooperatives. He seems further to have favorably impressed his boss, Secretary Brannan, who is struggling with the surplus problem and increased demands for support prices.

If ever an idea seemed admirably designed to kill several birds with one stone, it is this. The effectiveness of the stone, however, is still to be tested.

Memories Are Revived

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — For one who watched President Truman deliver his inaugural address, and listened to his words, it was only natural for the memory to slip back 16 years to another man who stood there in the same place at the front of the Capitol—he looked so young and buoyant then.

The shadow of Franklin D. Roosevelt still hangs heavily over our times.

Some of the contrasts of that day with last Thursday show how far we have come—and how far we still must go.

Then we were looking inward, despairingly, upon ourselves, for it was a time to commiserate with ourselves. Long lines of discouraged men, weary from looking for jobs that did not exist, wound around windy street corners for a bowl of soup.

Banks were crashing all around, so that you could almost hear the thunder of closing doors.

Farmers were being evicted from their homes. And, bravely trying to keep up our spirits, we cracked jokes, wanly, about banks and bankers and tried to smile when some still employed song-and-dance man sang "Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?"

That inauguration day was fittingly bleak. From leaden skies came occasional spits of cold rain. The man who stood there then, his upraised head bare in the raw wind, suddenly lifted us up as he threw out his challenge: "The only thing to fear is fear itself."

And so, slowly, minding his words. We came out of it.

Vision of "One World."

THE SUN shone on Harry Truman, so that people said to one another: "Still lucky—even the weather is for him." The sun shines on our land today. Not much to worry about here at home.

Where Franklin Roosevelt was compelled to concentrate his and our attention upon ourselves, for things were in such a mess, Harry Truman directed us outward to the rest of the world, where things are in such a mess.

We saved ourselves for that, and this is truly our hour in the world. President Truman assigned us the task, irrevocaly, so there can be no turning back, and it is a thrilling mission to which he calls us.

What President Roosevelt promised—and achieved—for us here at home, Harry Truman has proposed to do for the rest of the world, to the end that everywhere in the world there shall be a self-reliant society of free and prosperous people—and on the pattern that we have made for ourselves here: The projection of the American dream.

"Our aim should be to help the free peoples of the world, through their own efforts, to produce more food, more clothing, more materials for housing, and more mechanical power to lighten their burdens," he said, using the design that we have followed since that other man stood there 16 years ago to awaken us to our own powers.

"Democracy," he said, "has proved that social justice can be achieved through peaceful change."

In short, what we have done for ourselves the rest of the world can do under our leadership and guidance.

Trend to Manager Plan.

Echo of the recent county charter campaign—the manager plan is still spreading across the country at an undiminished rate.

In case you heard that putting local offices under a manager is an un-American thing it is interesting to note that 68 additional cities and four counties took the chance in 1948. In size the cities acting in 1948 ranged up to Richmond in the cradle of Americanism, the state of Washington, Jefferson and Madison, the Old Dominion.

As city finances become tangled by old line politicians the citizens are inclined to look at the generally better results with qualified managers.

The trend continues at a surprisingly rapid rate. At year's end 876 cities, towns and counties were operating with managers. And it is a fair guess that the professional politicians fought the adoption of the plan in virtually all of them.—Kansas City Star.

Study Use of Atomic Forces On Farms

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — For some time, government scientists at the agriculture department's experimental station at Beltsville, Md., have been trying to determine if the same atomic forces that take life can be utilized to give life. Particularly they are testing out radioactive fertilizer to see if it will increase crop yields.

So far no increase in soil fertility has shown up, but Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan has instructed his scientists to keep trying.

Another phase of atomic farm research, however, has been highly successful. By measuring the radioactivity of phosphorus in corn and other crops treated with radioactive fertilizer, Beltsville scientists can tell how much of the crops' phosphorus came from the soil and how much from the fertilizer.

This means that farmers of the future will be able to ascertain, almost to the pound, how much fertilizer they should spread per acre in each crop year.

Beltsville scientists call it the "tracer" technique, since they can trace the course of radioactive phosphorus through a plant like a tracer bullet over a battle field.

As one scientist observed: "It's like finding another microscope for agriculture research that we never had before."

Rayburn's Real Friends.

BACHELOR Speaker Sam Rayburn gets a great kick out of playing with children. Whenever he wants to relax, he sneaks off to be alone with some of his friends under five.

That's how Rayburn secretly celebrated his 67th birthday earlier this month. Officially he was guest of honor at a row of distinguished parties attended by the great and mighty—including President Truman. But the party which Rayburn enjoyed most was given by 13 youngsters.

His hostess was four-year-old Lindabird Johnson, daughter of Texas Senator Lyndon Johnson, though her 18-month-old sister, Lucy, turned out to be the life of the party by climbing on Rayburn's knee and trying to comb his egg-bald head.

Rayburn's knees were loaded with kids all afternoon, with his grandnephew Tom Bartlett and Sam Rayburn Worley — neither yet two years old—claiming first priority.

The party hit its climax when Lindabird brought in a cake with 21 candles and a basket loaded with birthday presents. The gift that got the biggest chuckle out of Rayburn was a quirt. In Texas they are used for getting more work out of mules, and the inference was that Sam might need it to goad some Democratic mules in Congress.

The Speaker was slow blowing out the candles, however, so Sam Rayburn Worley, son of Texas Congressman Eugene Worley, started blowing for him.

Silent John Rankin.

HOUSE members can't believe their eyes — or maybe it's their ears—but the most unreconstructed rebel in Congress is now a subdued man.

Temporarily, at least, rootin'-tootin' John Rankin of Mississippi has quit his feudin', fussin' and fightin'. Tipoff has been his strange docility since being booted off the un-American activities committee.

After loudly announcing he would fight efforts to oust him, Rankin suddenly about-faced and issued an unctious statement promising to cooperate with House leaders.

But the most amazing reform is the sudden calm that has settled in his vocal chords. Some time ago the Merry-Go-Round facetiously called Rankin "Silent John." Now, for the first time in his life, he is living up to the pseudonym.

At the Democratic caucus which formally ousted Rankin from the spy-probe committee, he was quiet as a churchmouse during vespers. In fact, it was he who shut off debate by moving for swift adjournment.

In the past, "Silent John" would have been yelling madly for reconsideration, especially reconsideration of the vote aimed at him. This time, however, he said nothing, perhaps because if he had forced reconsideration, his angry colleagues also might have reconsidered their approval of his claim to Chairmanship of the Veterans committee.

Merry-Go-Round.

A DETERMINED drive is under way by the White House palace guard to fire hard-working Senator McGrath as chairman of the Democratic national committee. Truman doesn't share this view, but McGrath does. Overworked, he wants to resign. George Killion of San Francisco is best bet to take his place . . . House majority leader John McCormack has introduced a bill authorizing the Freedom Train to operate for two more years . . . Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has been snowed under with telegrams from farmers demanding that the government build steel and fertilizer plants. The shortage is so bad that a little cabinet meeting was called last Sunday.

The Nation Today

Truman's World Puzzle

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON— (AP) —President Truman will leave the whole world puzzled until he explains precisely what he means by his "bold new program."

It certainly is not clear now. He mentioned this "new program" in his inaugural talk and he said it's one of several ways to stop the spread of communism: by helping "backward" countries.

How would it work? Mr. Truman was mighty vague on that.

And unless he comes through quickly with an explanation, the Russians probably will interpret what he said in their own way to spread more anti-American propaganda.

The most puzzling parts of what he said were the two words "investor" and "guarantees."

Start with "investor"—

He said that the United States, together with other nations, should help countries that need help in two ways:

1. With our skill and knowledge. This might mean (A) helping them build factories, machines, powerlines, railroads, or (B) helping them to improve their farming.

2. With "capital investment."

There the puzzle starts. What does "capital investment" mean? It could mean one of two things in this case, or both:

1. This country, and others, might offer money out of a central pool to help a needy country get developed and modernized.

2. There might be a large-scale effort to get private investors, like businessmen or bankers, to sink money in a country.

If they did so, they'd do it to make a profit. That's what they're in business for.

Americans have many investments abroad now but Mr. Truman probably has in mind new investments on a large scale.

Drop the word "investor" for a minute and take up "guarantees."

Mr. Truman said "Guarantees to the investor must be balanced by guarantees in the interest of the people whose resources and whose labor go into these developments."

* * *

What "Guarantees"!

BUT what does "guarantees" mean and how far-reaching is it?

Suppost an American oil company was willing to spend a lot of money developing an oil field in a country that needed a push toward prosperity.

And suppose the head of that country told the company "we give you our solemn promise that our government will not seize these oil fields, after you develop them, and take them away from you."

Did the President mean that kind of guarantee?

But suppose communists in that country began to try to overthrow the government there. Any promise made to an outside oil company before would mean nothing to them.

They'd seize the oil fields and blandly announce they were cancelling out any deals made by the old government.

What meaning would "guarantees" have in a case like that—unless this country stepped in, interfered in the internal affairs of that country, and prevented the communists from getting control?

And how would other nations look on that, since we have talked so much about the right of each nation to settle its own affairs?

(Interfering in another country that way wouldn't be new with us. We interfered in Greece to prevent the communists from winning out there. And we're still in there working against them.

Since the President's "new program" is so vague, couldn't the Russians scorch the airwaves with broadcasts accusing him of trying to set up a program to make Americans rich at the expense of other nations?

Maybe Mr. Truman feared that kind of interpretation might be put on his words. For he said: "The old imperialism — exploitation for foreign profit—has no place in our plans."

Yet, no businessman invests money anywhere without hope of profit. A group of nations might get together to do it, but not a private banker.

So what did Mr. Truman mean?

Farmer's Diary

A Bit of Philosophy

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I'M AN addict of nursery catalogs. Every year I plant trees, because it's a joy that I hate to miss. This country needs more fruit trees — HEALTH grows on trees, and there is not half enough fruit produced, at present, for an adequate diet for everyone.

What I buy is a dream . . . pictured in a book, or by a salesman's glib phrasing. What I get, by express or mail, or from a neighborhood grower, is a bedraggled cutting with roots, or a limber switch that may someday become the grand tree that my imagination yearns for. Meanwhile, years go swiftly—nurserymen, too, make mistakes.

It is hard to get competent help in the shipping departments. My hillsides are depleted, barren, eroded ground—perhaps the season turns out too dry or too wet. So many things may affect an orchard. It is really no wonder that most folks would rather buy the fruit than grow it.

* * *

ONE of the most satisfactory nursuries I have dealt with offers this philosophy to its salesmen: "The fabric of the ordinary life or business is a delicate thing, made up of inter twined, interrelated and interdependent threads. These threads are the friends in your life or in your business. You may strongly bind and closely weave them together or fear them apart. The kind of cloth you possess, depends on the way you make it.

"You can't have friends unless you are one. You can't expect people to believe in you, depend on you, truse you or say a good word for you, unless your attitude and actions toward everybody are founded on strict honest and PROBITY. (Look this word up in the dictionary, it's worth knowing.)

Also, it may take years to build a reputation, but only a moment to tear it down . . . strive to make friends by deserving them."

* * *

FARMS and homesteads ought to have fruit trees, grapes and berries. If your home is lacking, visit the nurseryman nearest you. Whether you buy anything or not, he will be glad to tell you some of the new things he has learned. And you'll make a friend.

FORMAL CEREMONY HELD FOR MISS GRAU, MR. FRANK

Custom of Open Church Observed for Service At First English Lutheran Church Sunday.

A LOVELY BRIDAL GOWN of ivory satin, with portrait neckline, was chosen by Miss Marcella Joyce Grau for her wedding Sunday at 1:30 o'clock before the altar of the First English Lutheran church. Miss Grau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Grau, 628 Arlington avenue, became the bride of George Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Frank, 579 Maple street.

The custom of open church was observed for the formal nuptial service with Rev. C. P. Mitchell officiating. Mrs. Clayson Bell played the program of wedding music and Miss Erma Jenkins was the vocalist.

The single ring ceremony was performed before a background of palms, ferns and seven branch candelabra. Altar vases were filled with King Cardinal carnations and the two beauty vases held white glads and white pompoms.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Grau approached the altar in the gown fashioned with a sheer yoke of marquisette, which fit up to the neckline and dropped slightly over the shoulders. The yoke was edged with a wide ruffle of satin and a band of Chantilly lace. It was buttoned down the back to a medium waistline and the very full skirt fell into a very wide and long train. The full skirt was edged with two deep ruffles trimmed with bands of Chantilly lace.

Her veil was edged with imported Chantilly lace and was attached to a band of three rows of pearls. She carried a small white St. James version of the Bible with a light orchid surrounded by white sweetpeas.

Miss Grau's attendants wore brocaded satin. The matron of honor was Mrs. Carey W. Futch jr., of Columbia, S. C., aunt of the bride. Her gown was in Chinese aqua. Bridesmaids were Miss Janet Ackerman and Miss Dorothy Weaver, both close friends of the bride. Their gowns were in jonquil yellow.

The dresses were fashioned alike with round necklines in a portrait style, similar to the bride's, and were edged in a bertha of the brocade. Completing their ensembles were below the elbow length gauntlets which matched their gowns. The skirts were in soft double boxed pleats, giving the full hipline effect. Their bonnets were small and worn at the back of their heads. Tiny bright red velvet rosebuds were the only trim. They carried front style bouquets of red King Cardinal carnations and red Temptress roses.

Mrs. Grau chose a smoke gray gown and mauve hat and white gloves. Mrs. Frank was attired in an aqua dress with pink hat and gloves. Both mothers wore orchids.

Jack Frank, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Ushering the guests to their pews were Ray E. Eisaman, Joe R. Smith, Helmut Wiehm and Stanley J. Packer.

NEW STARS SHINE BRIGHT IN BROADWAY FIRMAMENT

By GEORGE TUCKER, AP Newsfeature Writer

NEW YORK—The theatrical season of 1948 may not be remembered as one of the best, but it did produce at least three young actresses who rose from obscurity to rare personal triumph on Broadway.

They came from such widely separated places as a Welsh mining town, a Kansas farm and a suburban Canadian home. And they had this in common—they distinguished themselves in productions that were largely kissed off as sub-par by the critics.

Without the sensitive performance of Margaret Phillips as Alma Winemiller, a Southern girl whose moral scruples slowly wash away, like whitewash in the rain, "Summer and Smoke" by Tennessee Williams could not have lifted its head so high.

The bouncing antics of Mary McCarty, an Irish atom of prettiness, are largely responsible for the well-being of the revue "Small Wonder."

Allyn McLerie emerged as a real personality from "Where's Charley," a musical that already had the dancer Ray Bolger as its star. This was like being on the same team with Babe Ruth.

Margaret Phillips, 24, came from Cwmgwrach, Wales—which means valley of the witch—with her mother on a visit in the late thirties. Trapped by the war, she went to school in the Bronx, then tried the theater and after gruelling experience in bits here and there came up with her first name part on Broadway.

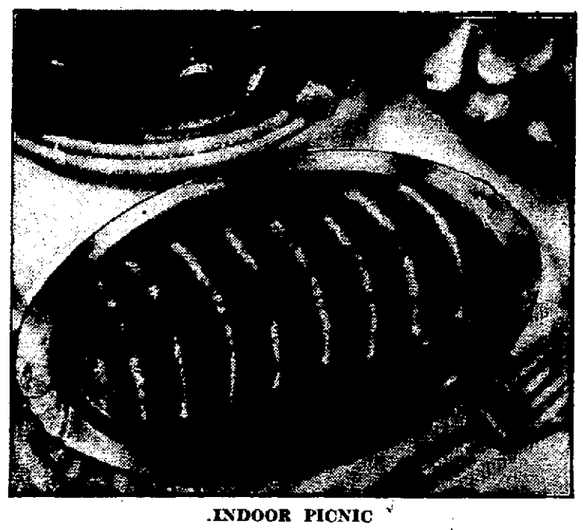
She has never missed a performance in any production she has been in, which is tough on her understudy, Leslie Paul, who has dubbed her "The Iron Butterfly."

Texans have rarely had to take the sort of spoofing that Mary McCarty subjects them to. "We owe it all to something in the soil," cries Mary in "Small Wonder." . . . "Oil, oil, oil!" Satirical skits on Hollywood, historical novels and other facets of life are targets for her sulphurous ballading and brassy jingling.

A veteran of class "C" movies, she came to New York, supported herself by jobs in nightclubs until she finally got a break in "Sleepy Hollow," which died quickly. Then came her chance in "Small Wonder." Mary was born on a Kansas farm. She is 25.

Allyn McLerie whose beautiful legs and bright dancing are excellent contrasts to Ray Bolger in "Where's Charley?" has studied ballet since she was eleven.

Four years ago she was an anonymous figure in the chorus of "On the Town." When its star left the cast she was singled out to replace her by Adolph Green, its author. They were eventually married, and live in an apartment in 57th street. Miss McLerie, now 21, was born in Canada but doesn't remember much about it. "I moved to Brooklyn at the age of four months," she said. "I'm keeping up with my ballet dancing too," she added.



INDOOR PICNIC

Come to the party! We're going to have an indoor picnic with barbecued franks, toasted buns, potato chips, and lots of cold drinks. The party is ideal for teen-agers, but grown-ups, too, would like the idea.

The franks are served on an oven-ware platter, so they can be placed in the barbecue sauce before the guests arrive and then popped into the oven for a few minutes just before serving time. Franks are cooked and ready to eat just as they come from the package, so all they need is heating.

If your kitchen is large enough, hold the party in there. Otherwise spread a beach blanket on the living room floor for a true picnic style. Paper plates are in order, of course, for who ever heard of china on a picnic?

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, January 25.

THE auguries may be considered encouraging for straight business contacts, with shrewd and sagacious moves to accelerate quick chances for renewal of contracts. Yet there are undercurrents of a tricky nature, in which suspicious situations or "sharp practice" may disrupt promising relations or understandings of a personal nature. A sudden switch may prove disconcerting or disastrous, unless discretion and sound principle be adhered to strictly.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may have to make quick decisions and fast moves if certain menacing situations are to be sidestepped. There are treacherous circumstances and suspicious angles, probably causing estrangements, rash changes and radical upheavals. While the mentality may be keyed to sound objectives, with excellent promise, yet covert actions or treachery may make a sudden about-face advisable. Personal relations seem to be involved, with queer climax. Shun all strange complications and misplaced confidence.

A child born on this day, while versatile and enterprising, yet may alienate friends and associates by its misplaced confidence, being easily victimized by schemers or queer associates.

Committee Has Chapter Night

The Women of the Moose met for an open and formal meeting recently at the Moose lodge with Mrs. Michael Campanelli, senior regent, presiding. Ninety-six members and 11 guests were present.

Since this was the Child Care and Training committee's chapter night, the meeting was turned over to the chairman, Mrs. Anton Schweitzer, who introduced as her guest speaker, Mrs. Eva Waller, Canton, associate graduate grand ritualist. She gave a talk on "How to Aid Your Child Welfare and Juvenile Delinquency Organizations."

Nine candidates were initiated into the organization by the group.

Entertainment was furnished by Carol Schweitzer, who recited poetry and Bobby Knackstedt, who did a tap dance. After the meeting lunch was served by the Moosehaven committee.

The next meeting, Feb. 2, will be Academy of Friendship night. This meeting will be open and formal.

MEET FEB. 3

The Mansfield Association of Insurance Women will meet for their regular meeting Feb. 3 at 7:30 p. m. in the Chamber of Commerce room in the Farmers Bank building. Instead of regular program a 'white elephant' auction sale will be held. All members and guests will be received by the committee.

The first Revolutionary tea party in America is claimed by Edenton, N. C. October 25, 1774, when the ladies of the town, sipping a brew of raspberry leaves, pledged not to buy any tea bearing the odious tax stamp.

Use Diplomacy In Helping Children Settle Quarrels

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

CHILDREN like some adults, quarrel over matters which to an impartial observer seem very trivial, even absurd.

I recall that when I was about eight and my older sister about ten she and I conducted a funeral for rats which had been killed when corn was removed from a crib. We had quite a ceremony. She sang the hymns and I prayed and preached. But before my sermon was ended my sister observed that I had one more filled ratgrave than she had—figuring one rat to a grave. A violent quarrel began and ended with our digging up all the departed rats. I don't recall what disposition was finally made of those rats.

The other day I read a letter from a clergyman's wife of the way her boys two year old and four will quarrel over who is to "pray at the table." the winner bragging of his victory. In answering this mother I suggested she have the children take turns and mark the turn of each on the calendar. I added that she might have them cast lots to start the plan, or just arbitrarily choose one of them before they had time to argue.

The sources of quarrels between children of the same family fall pretty generally into two large groups, ownership of property and privileges or assigned duties. When there's doubt or overlapping in either group quarreling almost always ensues.

Emphasize some individual ownership early. Let the baby have a few playthings of his own, which the older is not allowed to snatch away; the older, more things of his very own, which the baby must not touch except by permission of the owner. You will incline to require the older always to give up to the younger. Instead, you should try harder than most mothers do to protect the older child from the barbarism of the baby, seeing that the baby does not mess up, mar or destroy the older child's things. More often than not in quarrels over possessions it's the younger who is the first and fiercest aggressor.

Don't match toys. Give one child a cart and the other a wagon, thus affording them a motive to exchange toys and play cooperatively. (I discuss learning to share in my bulletin, "Tot Learning To Be Sociable," to be had in a stamped envelope.)

Don't match privileges, except with twins. Te child eight should be allowed to go to bed later than the child five and be given other privileges the younger may not have, being older. Also make chore assignments with marked age differences in mind.

But be sure jobs don't overlap. Don't for example, set Gerald, ten, and Patsy, 12, to do the dishes together. Let them take turns. And all required assignments should be definite and unescapable.

When a quarrel is on don't have a trial. If you believe either child or the property is in danger or the neighbors are disturbed or you can't stand it any longer, merely separate the warriors for a definite period. (My bulletin, "Fighting and Quarreling" may be had in a stamped envelope.)
